

The armed forces of North Korea, which borders on and is allied with Russian Manchuria, marched into the U. S.-sponsored South Korea Republic over the weekend — and the chips are down for American prestige throughout the Far East.

Our State Department promptly announced it would hold Russia responsible for what the Communists North Koreans do.

But this goes far beyond the realm of diplomacy. Korea — by its modern name Chosen — has been a part of the Japanese empire ever since the Japs beat the Russians in a war at the beginning of the century. It was formally annexed to the empire in 1910 — and when the United States defeated Japan in World War II Korea came into our hands.

The Russians didn't do anything about Japan, you recall — or only enough to entitle them to sit in at the final surrender.

Yet Russia has consistently made trouble for us in Korea, first organizing the North Korean Communist state — and now invading the republic which we set up in South Korea.

It is the old Hitler pattern of picking off small states one by one, first using agitators to overthrow lawful government, then resorting to armed force when necessary.

With Korea so close to Japan geographically it is hard to see how we can permit the peninsular republic to fall without getting out of Japan and the entire Western Pacific.

The alternative would be to give the Russians what they aren't looking for — a swift and relentless air attack on North Korea, and even on Manchuria itself. It's tough to mount a guerrilla war when air power knocks out all your railroads, highways and principal cities.

But that's the only language the land-grabbers of the Kremlin are afraid of.

Personally I am in the Post Office Department's corner in the controversy stirred up by the re-trenchment in postal service.

The department in trying to reduce an operating deficit of half a billion dollars has cut down on some mail deliveries, and has discontinued certain free services which — like most free services — have been abused.

I am informed that post offices everywhere have been instructed to cut out the "directory service" — that is, when you send a letter to an individual or firm without any street address or post office box number some clerk would hunt it up for you, put it on the letter, and speed your message to its destination.

Well, this sort of thing costs money, and conscientious people who look up an address before writing a letter are simply paying taxes to have careless people's clerical work done for them.

There are times, of course, when the post office customer does need a helping hand. But, from what I hear, the customers have done a lot of imposing on the free service.

While we're talking efficiency in government how about some efficiency on the part of people who use the mails?

Most Arkansas cities have gained in population on the 1950 census.

Most counties have lost population.

And Arkansas as a whole is going to show a slight decline between 1940 and 1950, perhaps one percent.

This report isn't disastrous. Disappointing, perhaps — but not disastrous. Ours is an agricultural economy in which far-reaching changes are taking place. And when the business fashion shifts a lot of people change their addresses, too.

The other day we published some figures from the University of Arkansas showing the increase in per capita income for this state over a period of nearly 20 years. Population alone is never the whole story of progress and prosperity. If livestock and produce and new industry mean a larger family income and a higher standard of living than Arkansas had under the old cotton-and-corn economy, then this is a factor just as important as any census report.

Farm Support Group Claims Enough Votes

Washington, June 26 — (P) — Senator Ellender claimed enough votes today to complete congressional action on a 2,000,000,000 increase in government farm price support funds.

As the senate prepared to vote on the farm bill at 2 p. m., there came a determined opposition — aimed not at the price supports but at an amendment intended to halt or reduce farm imports from Canada, Mexico and other nations.

Leading this opposition were Senators Magnuson (D-Wash) and Morse (R-Ore). They have objected to spending government funds to keep prices high for U. S. Farmers, while allowing potatoes, fruits, grains, beef cattle and other competitive imports to add to domestic price and surplus problems.

Magnuson and Morse want to send the price support legislation back to a senate-house conference committee with orders to tighten up language intended to restrict imports of farm products.

Their argument collides with the administration's tariff-cutting program under the reciprocal trade agreement act.

Senators Ellender, Holland (D-Fla) and other supporters of price support programs were pressing the senate to accept the compromise already approved by the house.

"I think we will have ample votes to put this through unless there are a lot of absentee senators today," Ellender told a reporter. "If senators will just study this compromise they will see it gives much more protection against farm imports than present law."

Under existing law the President may limit foreign farm imports or increase import fees on them on the recommendation of the tariff commission.

At the urging of Magnuson and Morse, the senate approved a plan:

1. Allow the secretary of agriculture to make recommendations as to import quotas and higher fees.

2. Prohibit any new trade agreements or extension of present pacts preventing new restrictions on farm imports.

State department spokesmen contended this might wreck the trade agreements program and encourage Canada, Mexico and other nations to retaliate against exports by this country.

Opposition in Four City Aldermen Race

The city filing deadline closed Saturday and here's how the ticket will look:

Ward One — Alderman — Joe Jones, incumbent; Ray Turner and Ray Allen.

Ward Two — Paul Raley and Ernest Ridgill.

Ward Three — Thompson Evans and Harvey Cobb, incumbent.

Ward Four — A. E. Slusser and Charles Taylor.

Mrs. Charles Reynerson is unopposed for city clerk, and W. S. Atkins failed to draw opposition as city attorney.

The preferential primary is to be July 25, and the runoff is two weeks later, on August 8.

More About Figs

A large fig brought in last week by Mrs. Flower of near Spring Hill resulted Saturday in a call from Paul Cobb who produced a couple that weigh a pound, and several slightly smaller. The circumference of the two larger ones is 8 1/2 inches. The fig grown by Mrs. Flower weighed almost 15 ounces.

Korean Situation to Be Discussed by McMath

Little Rock, June 2 — (P) — Governor McMath indicated he would have something to say about the Korean situation in an address at the Arkansas Veterans of Foreign Wars convention at Hot Springs this afternoon.

At his news conference this morning, the governor declined to comment on the Korean hostilities, saying he wanted to think it over a little.

He added that he would speak about state politics and world affairs at Hot Springs.

Korean War Plunges Stock Market

New York, June 26 — (P) — The stock market took the steepest plunge in a year and half today in the first nervous appraisal of hostilities in Korea.

The men left their jobs in support of a demand for a 40-hour week at the present 48-hour rate, equal to a wage boost of 31 cents an hour. In taking action, they rejected a recommendation by a presidential fact-finding board that they be granted a 40-hour week and a pay increase of 18 cents an hour.

The union now has a contract with the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad at the terms requested of the other lines. That agreement raised the pay of switchmen or yard conductors from $13.08 a day to $13.67; helpers on yard brakemen from $12.21 to $14.65, and switch tenders from $10.71 to $12.86.

The strike deadline at 6 a. m. yesterday found the four railroads ready to halt operations. They had announced earlier that if final negotiations failed of a settlement, they would not even try to run any trains during the strike.

For a while prices steadied. A little after noon selling forces lashed out with another savage attack and prices tumbled an extreme of around $8 a share. Selling orders came from all quarters.

They announced the layoff of at least 35,000 other employees, most of them effective today.

Nevada Man Killed in Auto Wreck

By The Associated Press
Drownings and traffic accidents claimed five lives in Arkansas over the weekend.

A 12-year-old Negro boy, James Edward Jameson, drowned Sunday while swimming in a pond near Atlanta, in south Columbia county.

Hubert Stephens, 37, of Camden, drowned while attempting to swim across the Ouachita river at Camden Sunday. His body was recovered Monday morning following an all-night search. Stephens formerly lived at El Dorado and the body was returned there for burial.

Traffic accidents and a drowning claimed three lives in Arkansas over the weekend.

Two other persons, both teenagers, died under puzzling circumstances, but without any hint of foul play.

One of the latter was Charles Brownlow, 19, of Oil Trough, who died in White river late Saturday.

State police said there was no water in his lungs when the body was recovered Sunday. They said they believed death was due to a heart attack, rather than to drowning.

The other was Mrs. Earl Jones, 18-year-old mother of two, who was found dead in bed at her Murfreesboro home Sunday morning. She apparently was in good health when she went to bed Saturday night. A coroner's jury reported no evidence of foul play as a result of "some natural cause."

An unidentified youth, believed to be about 16 to 18 years old, drowned when he dove into a water-filled bauxite mining pit near Little Rock to escape state police who were seeking to question him at request of a farmer who said the boy had slept in his barn. He had told the farmer he was from St. Louis, but there was no other clue to his identity.

Property damage is expected to run high. In West Union, 200 homes were destroyed. City officials at Weston, 25 miles to the southeast on the west fork river, estimated the damage there at $2,000,000.

All of Weston except sections on the hillsides was under water at one time.

Two of the victims at Berea, Mrs. Clara Bee, 70, and her brother, William Gribble, 72, of Cleveland, lost their lives trying to warn the other four who died there.

Husband of Former Hope Resident Is Far East Adviser

Mrs. John M. Allison who is visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Bridewell will leave tonight to join her husband in Washington, D. C.

Mr. Allison is chief of the north-east Asia state department division in Korea. He is chief assistant advisor to John Foster Dulles, special state department representative, who currently is conferring with Gen. MacArthur in Tokyo on Far East affairs.

Switchmen's Strike Halts Four Railways

Chicago, June 26 — (P) — The strike of 4,000 AFL switchmen had brought four major western railroads to a standstill today and had thrown thousands of other workers out of jobs.

Lines tied up by the walkout yesterday morning of the Switchmen's Union of North America are the 8,000-mile Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific; the 2,413-mile Denver and Rio Grande Western; the 1,500-mile Chicago and Great Western; and the 1,125-mile Western Pacific.

The fifth struck line, the 8,000-mile Great Northern, said it has maintained near normal passenger service but that its freight has been crippled.

The men left their jobs in support of a demand for a 40-hour week at the present 48-hour rate, equal to a wage boost of 31 cents an hour.

The announcement said the planes would be turned over to Korean pilots in Japan. South Korea has 60 trained pilots ready to fly the sorely needed aircraft, reports from Seoul said.

Meantime, serious young Americans can get fighter pilots, ready to shoot if attacked, spread an aerial umbrella from Japan to South Korea.

Authoritative sources said continuous air cover would be maintained to protect evacuation of some 700 American women and children from Korea and assure safe passage of convoys carrying munitions and war material to the South Koreans.

General MacArthur's headquarters was rushing preparations for shipment of the munitions and material. Until the plane announcement, the U. S. had supplied South Korea only with defensive weapons — Garand rifles, machine-guns and 105 millimeter howitzers.

Both the evacuation and Korean shipments will have "a naval escort and air coverage," a headquarters spokesman added.

At almost the moment of the announcement, American fighter planes flew over Seoul, the South Korean capital, on the way to cover the first evacuees. They are boarding two ships at Inchon, Korea's West coast port. At sea, American destroyers will pick up the two ships and convoy them to Japan.

American pilots were under orders to protect their patrol zone, reliable informants said, and this means shooting if necessary to defend themselves or the ships under escort.

These sources said the 600-plus an hour F-90 jets — the airforce's "Shooting Stars" — will predominate in the air cover, which will also include F-82 Twin Mustangs, all weather fighters designed for night duty.

The only known survivor of the family is Charles Bailey, a son, who is in West Union hospital with a fractured leg, cuts and bruises.

Six members of the B. J. Cooper family at Smithburg also were listed as dead in the swirling waters, and three members of another family were killed as their home was pounded into bits against a railway trestle.

Berea, a little agricultural community located on horse shoe curve of the south fork of the Hughes river south of here, also was hard hit. Six persons were known dead here, including a grandmother and two of her grandchildren.

Postmaster Ray Bonnell said the toll at Berea might have been higher except for the Paul Revere actions of two of the town's young men, Harland Hodge and Charles Bridge, who dashed through the community knocking on doors to warn residents.

Property damage is expected to run high. In West Union, 200 homes were destroyed. City officials at Weston, 25 miles to the southeast on the west fork river, estimated the damage there at $2,000,000.

All of Weston except sections on the hillsides was under water at one time.

DOROTHY DIX

Itinerant Wife

Dear Miss Dix: Almost a year ago I left my first husband after having been married to him for three years. I came to a little Western town to visit my sister. Here I met a man who fell for me at once and I married him. I knew I didn't love him but he thought I did, and still does, and he is crazy about me. I have only been married a few months and I am sick and tired of it. We live in a dingy little apartment. Nothing to do, nowhere to go, no amusements. If we could move to a larger town, it would not be so bad. If a better man should happen my way I would quit my husband in a minute, but a bird in the hand is worth two in the bush and I am not giving up one man until I have another in view.

What shall I do? Shall I tell myself that since this man fell so easily there must be plenty of others who would do the same, or shall I rot in this place, pretending to be in love with my husband? ELEANOR

Answer: I really think that the kindest thing you could do to your husband would be to leave him at once, for you will do it sooner or later, anyway, as soon as one man comes along who can jingle a little more money before you or take you to some gayer place to live.

Husband To Be Pitied

It seems a pity for a fine, honest man like your husband to have to spend his life toiling for a wife who merely regards him as a meal ticket and who does not repay his labor and his sacrifices by even so much as a thought of gratitude or appreciation. Any man is lucky to be rid of that kind of wife, and the quicker she is on her way the better for him.

But let me tell you, Eleanor, that you will never find any happiness in marriage as long as you make it a racket, and regard a husband as merely a slave to work and support you in order that you may be fed and clothed and have nothing to do but amuse yourself. You get out of marriage just as you get into it.

Rock has been suspended as a result of the strike.

Explanation of the Rent Control Bill

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, June 26 (AP)—Congress has passed a new rent control bill. President Truman is expected to sign it into law.

This is an ABC on what that new bill will do as law.

It will keep the present law unchanged, except for a couple of minor points, until Dec. 31, 1950.

After that date all government rent controls will cease everywhere in the United States except—and this is the only exception—where the people or officials of a city or town vote to keep them longer.

Even though a town or city votes to retain the controls beyond Dec. 31, they can keep them only six months beyond that date for, automatically, government controls will then end June 30, 1951.

To put it another way: The new law continues controls until June 30, 1951, but only for a town or city—a state can't vote to keep them—which votes to retain them until June 30, 1951. Otherwise they end Dec. 31, 1950.

The present five main provisions of the law—for knocking off controls—remain in effect until Dec. 31, 1950. So between now and Dec. 31, controls can be knocked off this way:

1. The government's housing expediter can remove the controls anywhere he thinks it's all right to do so.

2. Local rent control advisory boards, able to show their locality no longer needs the controls, can recommend to the housing expediter that he remove them from that locality.

3. State legislatures can vote to wipe out government rent controls in any individual state.

4. State legislatures can pass a law setting up their own rent controls, and this automatically wipes out government controls.

5. The local governing body—like a town or city council—can vote to end government controls. And this will be done if the governor of the state approves.

6. This is new: an unincorporated county—such as one adjoining a large city—can wipe out the government controls if the officials if that county vote to do so.

The law says this: Even though government rent controls should end everywhere on Dec. 31, 1950, World War II veterans still keep their "veterans preference," as provided in present law, until June 30, 1951.

(Which means: No matter what happens to rent control between now and June 30, 1951, veterans must be given 30 days' first crack, or preference, at any new building, whether it's a house or apartment.)

Here are other parts of the present law which the new law will keep unchanged until Dec. 31, 1950.

(As explained, after that date—and only until June 30, 1951—they will be kept unchanged only in a town or city which votes to keep rent controls beyond Dec. 31.)

Tighe Woods, called the housing expediter, is rent control boss for the country. His office is here in Washington.

Under him—in the places which still have government rent control—are so-called area offices around the country with staffs to handle problems in their areas.

They'll advise Woods whether they think rents should be raised or wiped out in their areas.

If Woods doesn't do what the boards recommend, they can appeal to a special emergency court of appeals made up of federal judges.

If you're a landlord and think you should be allowed to raise your rent, go to the area rent control office in your territory.

If you don't get satisfaction there, you can consult your local advisory board.

If you're a tenant with a complaint about your landlord, tell it to your area rent control office.

The housing expediter can control evictions. He can get a court injunction to stop an eviction he thinks is wrong.

The tenant at the housing expediter can sue a landlord for three times the amount of rent he thinks the landlord was overcharged. But there are no criminal penalties for doing anything wrong under the law.

And one thing more: Apartment hotels in Chicago are under controls—the only city in the country where that is required—at the rental they were getting March 1, 1949.

Under the present law, passed last year, apartment hotels in New York and Chicago were kept under the controls. Since then New York state ended government controls and put on its own. So that leaves Chicago apartment hotels the only ones still under federal control.)

Union Granted Jurisdiction Over Teletypes

Washington, June 26 (AP)—Union jurisdiction over teletype-setting machines is granted AFL printers on four Washington daily newspapers in a new work contract approved yesterday.

Teletypesetting equipment, not yet in use on Washington papers, replaces manual operation of the Linotype. It is operated from a keyboard and by means of perforated tape fed into the Linotype machine provides for semi-automatic typesetting.

The International Typographical Union is granted the right to operate all teletypesetting machines
